Grouped Products Display Extension For Magento Enterprise Edition

- Supports Magento Enterprise 1.12.x

- Ability to display custom attributes on the front-end

- Ability to sort your grouped products by attributes

- Fully customizable controls using Magento Administrator Panel

- The extension comes with a User Manual. The extension's functionality code is 100% Open Source.

PROBLEM SOLVED

The Magento Enterprise Edition grouped product page is currently lacking any form of customization for the client. The grouped product page has no options for sorting, adding other attributes or any modification beyond adding additional products to it. In addition, the location on the product page allows very little space to add large number of products or additional columns. This extension solves both of those problems.

Service Features and Benefits

Benefits of implementing our Grouped Product Display extension on your Magento store are many – from enhancing your sales to keeping your customers satisfied. Standard grouped product display options in Magento don't provide much flexibility. Setting up custom grouped product display attributes would be attractive to your customers and help drive revenue.

- Allows for the display of custom attributes to Magento Grouped Product display page.
- Customized sorting options allow your customer to view your products in a manner that makes sense to them.
- Allows the site owners, the ability to display numerous amounts of grouped products while maintaining usability. Fully controlled using the administrative panel.
